

WE NOMINATE

James Douglas Brown, Provost and Dean of the Faculty of Princeton University and nationally known economist, whose contributions to the Princeton Community over nearly a half-century have been recognized with his designation as "Princeton's Man of the Year" by the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council. The sixth recipient of an honor, which is considered the highest general distinction the community can confer upon a resident of this area, the 68-year old educator — in accepting the award Saturday evening at the Nassau Inn — stirred an audience of 250 persons with a brief, tightly written address devoted to "The Pattern for an Ideal Community."

Veering away from bricks and mortar and the problems of traffic, transportation and ordinated blue-prints, this life-long resident of New Jersey, one of the driving forces in the development of the nation's Social Security legislation, was concerned with "the intangible pattern, the humane climate, the way of life, the community personality of a town or city." He suggested a series of seven intangible attributes, ranging from "a sense of style" and "honest pride" to "tradition" and "pluralistic leadership," and warned that "we can permit this community to become so involved in physical growth and physical planning alone, no matter how important, that we become just another handsome monument to soulless prosperity."

The depth of understanding Brown has displayed over the years as a defender of the tradition of liberal education was evidenced in his discussion of the attribute of mutual accommodation in ideas. "Democracy requires not merely the freedom to vote," he said, "but the ability to discuss freely, within a gracious climate of mutual respect, widely differing points of view, and to gain a working consensus of what is reasonable. Without countervailing tensions, the human body falls into a heap, to sleep, if not to die. Without countervailing tensions and ideas, a community decays from sheer inertia. It is the way in which tensions are resolved that tests the quality of a community, not their absence."

A member of the Princeton Class of 1919, who saw action in France with the World War I A.E.F., Brown joined the Princeton Faculty in 1921. Five years later he was named director of the University's then new Industrial Relations Section, the first of its kind in higher education. He quickly steadied it on its course, rounded up an endowment of more than $1-million and for three decades spearheaded a research program that brought him into contact with governmental agencies on all levels.

Chairman of the first Federal Advisory Council on Social Security, and a consultant to Washington ever since he was first tapped for public service by President Herbert Hoover in 1930, Brown last July — entering upon his final year as a member of the Faculty — became Princeton's first Provost. In this post, as President Robert F. Goheen's general deputy, he gives particular attention to the University's overall academic development and to coordination in the areas in which he has now specialized for over 20 years, faculty and personnel administration, curriculum and general policy.

For his achievements as a creative and deeply concerned American; for his major role in the moulding of Princeton Gown and Princeton Town; and for his sharing with others a message ever provocative in content and affirmative in spirit; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

DR. MCKENNA RESIGNS
Board Praises His Work. Dr. John J. McKenna, acting superintendent of schools, has resigned, effective June 30, to become superintendent of schools in Madison, N.J.

The resignation, rumored for several days, was announced by Princeton Regional Board president Harvey Roth Tuesday night at the end of the Board's regular meeting.

In his letter of resignation, Dr. McKenna said he had accepted the Madison post "after carefully weighing the advantages and disadvantages of the several opportunities open to me."

He spoke of his ten years in the Princeton Regional system and his six months as acting superintendent of the new Princeton Regional system, "personally rewarding and satisfying years highlighted by the high level of professional competence of my fellow staff members and the honest commitment to the education of all children demonstrated by the Board members with whom I've had the privilege to serve."

Dr. Rothberg told the audience, assembled in the high school auditorium chiefly to comment on the budget, that Dr. McKenna had done a "truly remarkable job" in the critical months of the merger region, and that he would be extremely difficult to replace.

Candidates for the position are being interviewed. "He's given 100% of his time since last July," observed Mrs. Suzanne Preston, now on the Regional Board and formerly on the Township Board. She referred to Dr. McKenna's "courage and selflessness" both before and after merger, and added, "He's done a job of merger I didn't think could be done by this time."

Mrs. Preston remarked that when Dr. McKenna came to Princeton as principal of Valley Road School ten years ago, the Township had one school and about 500 kids. At the time of merger, she pointed out, the Township had grown to five schools and 1,800 youngsters.

GOODBYE, MAC: John J. McKenna, acting superintendent of schools, will leave June 30 to become superintendent of schools in Madison.

"He was boss, when the Township changed from a single school system to a bigger and better one," she said. "And he has always had a basic concern for individual children."

Dr. McKenna, a forceful and outspoken Navy man, has not always had smooth sailing during his years in the school system, but Board and audience gave him a standing ovation Tuesday night.

"Thank you," he grinned.

ABOUT THAT BUDGET . . . Hearing held. It was a tranquil evening for the $5.1 million Princeton Regional Schools budget. Questions were raised almost philosophically, and voices and at all times.

"Two rolling questions were scheduled for discussion at other times and places. Rocky Hill's future in executive session on Tuesday night, the proposed pupil allocation plan at the board's public meeting on Tuesday, February 26."

The new teachers' salary scale, subject of heated discussion at the Board's special meeting two weeks ago, was not technically part of Tuesday's budget hearing since it's not subject to public vote. (A state law, passed last year, requires the Board to adopt a salary scale without submitting it to the voters.)

However, it came up anyway.

"I'm worried about the intensity of teachers' feelings," commented one member of the audience. "A satisfied teacher corps is very important. What is the Board going to do next year, especially in the top ranges of the scale?"

Charles Jaffe, of the Board, replied: "We intend to be a leader in compensating our teachers and we plan to begin talks with them this spring, on policy and long-range goals."

Move Over. "What about overcrowding at the high school?" was another question. Dr. Rothberg replied that phasing out seating districts, providing four more classrooms in the two new vocational units and adding two more teachers would help.

Board member Thomas Moore produced figures showing the number of high school classes that have more than 25 students: 6 English, 10 language, 9 math, 6 business education, 9 science.

"I'm afraid our policy of 25 to 30 is only a goal at the high school . . . there just isn't any room!" Dr. Rothberg said. "We can achieve 25 at the elementary level, however."

Orron Jack Turner asked whether a "yes" vote on the budget meant approval of the proposed Middle School plan, and Dr. Rothberg told him the question was still open.

Then Mr. Turner asked whether it was really economical to own buses instead of contracting the routes. Dr. Rothberg said, "It is a chairman, (making his final appearance as a Board member) he did not choose to run. I told Mr. Turner that the board covered its bus costs over each year."

This year, Mr. Brodsky said, the Board is saying $30,000 for 16 contracted routes, or $3,750 a route. If the Board buys a $60,000 bus, the cost comes to $1,200 a year over the five-year period the bus might be expected to operate. Add a $4,200 salary for a full-time driver with benefits as custodian when he isn't driving, $300 for gas, $400 for maintenance and the total is $6,700 a year, or $2,700 per route. Also, the state reimburses 75% of the cost of a bus.

Transportation has been budgeted higher because the Board may reduce the walking limits from two miles to one and one-half for the youngest pupils.

"It's a mile and a half from Nassau and University Place to the John Witherspoon School," said Mrs. Fremont. "Some kids walked it, and it must be a long walk for a five-year-old. Howard Waxwood did a detailed survey and found 92 children who walk from the Nassau part of town in school. The board just hasn't gotten to it yet because we've been carried with other things."

Nobody seemed to wince much at the Township's $93 tax jump on a $37,500 house, compared to the Borough's $22.50 increase, although one apprehensive taxpayer asked "what about the following year, in the Township?"

Mr. Brodsky pointed out that 91% of the budget—current expenses—depends on the pupil and the Township has a 34-cent increase in the Borough and a 3% increase in its pupil population over the year. The Borough had almost no increase.

The Borough's jump occurred a year ago, when its per-pupil costs went from $635 to $606 due to a strengthened junior high program, reduced class size at the high school and vocational classes. Dr. Rothberg said the board expected to be proportionately about the same, after this year.

Two Brians. In other business, the Board accepted with regret the resignation of Norman J. "Pete" Anderson, secretary and assistant business administrator, effective February 28. He will start business administrator and public secretary in Rahway.

Dr. Donald Clark, director of special services, has also resigned. He will become assistant director of special services for the state's Department of Education.

The long-standing suit with Kehoe-Dowds that grew out of construction of Riverside and Community Park schools has been settled. In death of brother, Ervin H. Broadway, 37 Phillips Avenue, Lawrenceville, was sentenced to six to eight years in state prison Friday by County Judge Clifford C. Bennett for the shotgun slaying last March of his brother, Herman. Broadway will receive credit for the eight months he has spent in jail while the outcome of his trial. Originally, he was indicted for murder but the jury heard the case reduced the charge to manslaughter.

The shooting took place March 3 outside Ervin's home. Ervin had told police that he and his brother had argued when he refused to serve Herman a drink. He claimed that Herman then threatened him and that he shot in self defense.

Ervin added that he had met his brother in a tavern in Trenton and offered to drive him home. The slain Broadway lived at 12 Birch Avenue.

An anonymous donor has given the use of the house to the Auxiliary, whose members will use it for workshops, committee meetings and social gatherings.

The building dates, in part, from the late 18th century and members of the Auxiliary are now renovating it and restoring one room to its original 18th century appearance. Originally, the structure stood on Nassau Street, but it was moved when the Methodist Church was built in 1824.

Members of the Auxiliary welcome any additional information about the history of the house.

NATURE TRACT DONATED

To University. Ninety-nine acres of woodland and open fields located in Lawrence and Hopewell Townships three miles west of the University campus have been donated to Princeton University for use as a "permanent sanctuary" for research in ecology and population biology.

The tract was turned over to the University by the National Audubon Society. To be designated the Stony Ford Center for Nature Studies, the area will permit Princeton biologists to study the relationships of plants, animals and their environments in an undisturbed setting.

The educational program now being conducted at the area by the Audubon Society will continue until May 31. After that time, the University plans to keep the section untrampled by scientists for uninterrupted wildlife study open to the public.

Dr. John T. Bonner, chairman of the Princeton biology department, explained the University entered the field of ecology and population biology for the first time two years ago and now has an active program guided by Prof. Robert H. MacArthur.

PREPARING UNITED FUND SLATE: The nominating committee of the United Community Fund is preparing the slate of officers for approval at the annual meeting on Monday, February 6, at the Nassau Inn. Ninety-eight officers and trustees will be chosen. Seated from left to right are John P. Poe, George R. Griffing, Warren W. Wagner, committee chairman, and R. Franklin Bann. Standing from left to right: Ralph S. Mason, Mrs. Howard Fox, Mrs. J. Taylor Woodward, George J. Adriance and Ralph H. Mather.

Long-Range Planning. "In order for these scientists to carry out their research," he remarked, "it is absolutely essential to have an undisturbed natural area." He added that the University intends to preserve the tract carefully "not just for the immediate future, but over the decades to come."

Prof. MacArthur and his colleagues plan to use the area as a "living laboratory" to study various natural phenomena. Prof. MacArthur is particularly concerned with bird population studies.

His research involves measuring bird populations and predicting how they will change. His forecasts take into account factors such as life span, reproductive habits, climate changes, food preferences and changing patterns of food availability.

Although many projects considered for the new center are still only in the planning stage, among the programs being considered are:

The construction of artificial islands on the ponds in the property. A certain species extinct on the island, biologists would study its return to the area through repopulation. Prof. MacArthur has done similar studies on ocean islands.

Sounds To Be Taped. Using tape recorders to monitor the sound environment of a given area. The monitored section would be closed to the public to assure that the sounds obtained were those produced in an undisturbed environment. This project would further the researches of Prof. Mankau Koshiro on bird communication.

The construction of a tower from which flying insects could be sampled throughout the day to give a complete record of their activities.

Beside these projects, the new center will be used for research in the study of rhythms of organisms by Prof. Colin S. Pittendrigh, for research into bird social organization by Prof. Eghert G. Leigh's examination of population genetics and evolution.

The center will also be open to laymen for study or relaxation. Nature-loving Princetonians can also find undisturbed wildlife settings at the 80-acre Herrington Woods tract off Snowden Lane and at the University-owned tracts bordering Lake Carnegie.

CONSIDER THE YOUNG New Group Meets. A group of experts in the fields of sociology, education and problem-solving met for the first time last week to sound each other out on teenagers. They are scheduled to meet again this Wednesday for more exploration into the "whys" of teen behavior.

The group, nine in number, was formed as a result of an informal meeting held in December at the invitation of Mayor Henry S. Patterson to talk over town-gown teen problems.

That meeting was prompted by a letter from Dr. Robert E. Gohsen, president of Princeton University, to Princeton's two mayors, and the newly-formed panel of experts consists of people suggested by the University.

Those invited to serve are the Rev. Arthur Adams, Dean of Field Education at Princeton Theological Seminary; faculty: Dr. Suzanne Keller, visiting lecturer in sociology; Dr. Robert A. Scott, assistant professor of sociology; Dr. Lawrence F. Fernald, assistant professor of psychology and Dr. Duane Lockard, professor of public affairs with a record of keen interest in young people's problems.

Also Mrs. Kathleen Edwards, chairman of the John-Hopetown Citizens Association; Dr. David Rosenhan, psychologist in the research division, Educational Testing Service; Dr. Martin R. Kutz, specialist in guidance; Dr. B. S. and Gordon Mack, associate director of the Central Atlantic area for the Y.M.C.A.

The first meeting was also attended by Mayor Patterson and Borough Councilman Enoch Durbin.

CARPETING!
 IN THE BASEMENT.

Looking for extra living space? Look into the basement.

Basement areas can often be converted into family room or other uses, with a minimum of remodeling. Paving quickly transforms walls and ceilings. For floors, the solution could be carpeting them.

Modern developments make carpeting both a speedy and practical answer for basement floor covering needs. New indoor-outdoor carpeting resists moisture, mildew, stains, and won't shrink or fade.

This type of carpeting is highly wear resistant and is easy to clean. It can even be installed on masonry, patio, or at poolside as well.

For basement floors, the carpet can be laid directly over concrete. However, a latex foam rubber underlay will provide additional cushioning and insulation.

The carpeting used for basements is closely tufted and often has a dense, low pile. Thus, the latex foam underlay may be needed if deep-cushioned comfort underfoot is desired. Or, some carpets are available with a high-density latex foam backing.

No special treatment is necessary before putting in a down basement carpeting. Major holes must be patched, but minor blemishes can simply be covered and hidden.

Carpeting is practical for kitchens, laundry rooms and bathrooms — indeed, for every room in your home!

WOMAN IS MUGGED
 In Parking Yard, A 45-year old waitress at Lahiere's Restaurant was mugged Friday night shortly after 10 as she walked through a nearby parking lot on Witherspoon Street on her way home to her apartment at 14 Park Place.

"We had a mugging, I hate to report," said Borough Chief Peter J. McCraban at his news conference Tuesday. He identified the victim as Gertrude Verghert.

Chief McCraban reported that the victim was "pretty well roughed up." She was black and blue and there were marks around her neck. She received medical treatment. Mrs. Verghert called police from the restaurant. She told them as she walked through the parking lot between Community Leaders and Princeton Clothing, a tall, slim Negro came up and put his arm around her neck and knocked her to the ground.

At the same time, he tore at her purse with such force that its strap was left hanging on her arm. It contained between $5 and $7 and personal papers, police said.

After the attack the victim said she saw her assailant jump into a car and drive off. Ptl. John Markson and Ptl. Allen Bennett are investigating.

Attacked on Nassau St. Another woman was attacked Sunday at 6 p.m. as she was walking on Nassau Street with her two daughters.

Police said Mrs. Junko Up was turning into the drive of her apartment building at 291 Nassau Street, on her way home from St. Paul's Church, when a man grabbed her and tried to pull her back onto the sidewalk. Two pedestrians, a man and a woman, chased the assailant but he got away.

Township and borough police were alerted.

Later, Township Ptl. Frank Cox and Ptl. David Funk picked up a man on Washington Road near Parady Drive. He was identified at Borough Headquarters by Mrs. Up as the man who had grabbed her.

Police charged the suspect, 28, an morning cup of coffee.

My bikini
 Keeps me warm.
 How's that for a winter wardrobe?

Bikinis weren't quite seen on Nassau Street this week, but shirtless were, as the Weather Man misplaced his calendar and the thermometer shot well up into the 60s.

A couple more days' respite from the muggy chill of winter is about all we can expect. Spring? It's still 24 days away.

employee of the Charter Club, 79 Prospect Avenue, with assault. Police said he was drunk at the time of his arrest.

Medina-Garcia was held in $2,000 bail at his first hearing. He told the court he wanted a lawyer.

"I'M SO GLAD TO HELP"

With Multiple Sclerosis Driver. When Manhattan Greenblatt smiles, his face glows like an impish little boy's and you forget the cleaning-chrome of the wheel-chair that is his home.

Mr. Greenblatt has been 1967 chairman of the Multiple Sclerosis Service Organization fund drive. He's an RCA physicist, affiliated with MS since 1951. He's also a wit, a mathematician and a published writer.

"I'm so glad to help the M.S.S.O. because they helped me so much," he says eagerly. "They lent me a patient-lifter when I really needed one and to have help RIGHT NOW meant everything."

Dr. Greenblatt is the author of "Mathematical Entertainments," published by Thomas Y. Crowell on July 10, 1963.

He said his nephew was born "the day and my book were published the same day."

"I am not unfaithful to my chosen field when I write about math," explains Dr. Greenblatt, although nobody ever said he was unfaithful.

"I write this book because I've chosen math," explains Dr. Greenblatt, although nobody ever said he was unfaithful.

He was identified at Borough Headquarters by Mrs. Up as the man who had grabbed her.

Police charged the suspect, 28, an morning cup of coffee.

PORTRAIT OF A WRITER
 Dr. Greenblatt writes about the lighter side of physics and mathematics. Read about him in "Topics of the Town."

I Loved It "Well, remember that newspaper strike a few winters ago? It was wonderful! I had no newspaper to read, so I finally got down to writing that book and putting together about 80 of those math puzzles and games I'd been collecting. The strike lasted just long enough for me to finish."

"I enjoy those problems," and that impish sideways grin flashes across his face, and I enjoyed every minute of writing the book — even those deadlines publishers give you. I loved it!"

Dr. Greenblatt writes into a tape-recorder. "With MS, my handwriting has become — well, like a chicken's! — so I

News Of The THEATRES

COME TO THE PARTY
After "Godot," McCarter will open its spring season next Friday, February 3, with an on-stage party for all subscribers after the first performance of "Waiting for Godot."
The party will give members of the audience and opportunity to greet members of the company and each other — and to see whether Godot ever comes.

Discussion groups have been organized for subscribers who want to learn more about the season's plays, their authors and their place in the history of the theatre. Arthur W. Lillmore, executive director of McCarter, will give a brief talk, and then answer questions posed by subscribers who attend.

Detailed information about dates may be obtained by calling McCarter's box-office, 921-8700.

Plays scheduled for the season, besides Samuel Beckett's "Waiting for Godot," are "The Braggart Warrior," opening on February 16; "The Tempest," opening February 24; "The Emperor Jones," on March 10 and "The Servant of Two Masters," on March 31.

There will also be two bonus performances of "Hamlet" — one on February 26 at 3 and the second on Thursday, March 2 at 7:30.

FRUD FROM FORD
Playbill Recalls Lincoln. A fake playbill, now as historic as the true original, has been added to the William Seymour Theatre Collection in Firestone Library.

The program, in its original form, was distributed in Ford's Theatre in Washington the night Lincoln was assassinated. The play, of course, was "Our American Cousin." With a quick-eyed sense of history, most members of the Ford audience that night snapped up all programs within hours of the shot.

Printers, with an equal sense of history and an additional feel for the dollar, began producing copies of the authentic playbill almost immediately.

Differences in typography, spelling and text separate the real from the copy. The copy now in the Princeton collection, presented by the family of the late Edward H. White, Princeton class of 1910, is easy to spot because it carries an announcement of Lincoln's scheduled visit to the theatre. The original did not carry this

For Weekend Run
The Princeton Community Players' production of Ira Wallach's comedy, "Absence of a Cello," will return for two final performances at Murray Theatre on Friday and Saturday.

Lorin Zisman directed the play. The cast includes Lolo

Jim Margolis, Emily Stuart and Ed Yawowitz. Tickets may be

At Public Library, Films for children will be presented at 4 on the next two Monday afternoons at the Princeton Public Library. Admission is by free ticket, obtainable in the children's department.

Next Monday's movies are designed for youngsters in kindergarten through 3rd grade.
The program, "See and Hear Your Favorite Stories," will feature several Western Woods productions.

On Monday, February 6, "And Now Miguel" will be shown for 4th- through 5th graders. A documentary, it tells the story on which Johnson Krugmold's Newbery Award-winning book of the same name is based.

PLAYHOUSE AND PRINCE
ALIE (now playing). Bill Neughton's witty, bawdy and sometimes sordid play about the numerous adventures of a Cockney Don Juan comes to the screen intact.

This includes the incident involving abortion, explicit reference to which is forbidden under the Production Code. Since it was performed off-screen, the film was granted an "exemption" by the reviewer.

That damping factor aside,
this extremely well-made,
beautifully acted comedy-drama is just entertainment at its best.

Michael Caine in the title role is magnificent, and his aiders in the audience are hilariously biting and touching.
The technique is a novel one and always handled well. He's dapper and handsome and has a bit of trouble holding a job, but as long as the "birds"

keep falling for him, things can't be too bad.

Among the excellent supporting cast is Vivien Merchant, whose frightened housewife terribly hurt by her own transgression is a portrayal of rare depth.

The Catholic Office for Moto the film's undeniable quality by voting an A-4 ("morally unobjectionable for adults, with reservations") classification.

IT'S NEW To Us

SEE MY TAN

Color Against Sunburn. We still keep looking for white in the 1961 style clothes and all we find is the kind of color you get when Susie spills the ketchup.

At Clayton's, we put on dark glasses against a hot orange Kay Windsor with low and cool rolled collar, short sleeves and a trio of attached seams all down the front, breaking into three inverted knife pleats. Comes in hot lime, too.

Madame Windsor again, hot lime again, in a free-swinging with gathered rarchard, elbow sleeves flaring from a slightly dropped shoulder and a lot of fullness to catch the trade winds.

Even suave linen sheaths are bright. Here's Irish linen done up in raspberry or deep violet with four narrow plinges of pink, blue, green and deep purple ending armholes and round neck and swinging out in a colorful little tassel at the throat. ($40).

A dark copen linen has random embroidered dots of red, white, and a red-white piping bordered of a long-sleeved voile skirt or a sleeveless cotton popover in copen, lemon or pale coral. They beat their wings against the wide blue, yellow or pink bars of a sleeveless cotton shirt.

Peacock swirls of wild blue-greens and pink swirl over a silk with an unusual diagonal wave and shoulder buttons. Sleeves are short and buttoned.

Young and Old Together

The last place you'd expect to find a pre-teen-ager is in an antique shop. But have you ever been in Country Antiques a Saturday? Looks like a student lounge.

Boys and girls as young as eight, up to about 13, drop in to polish, dust and sell, and they have a perfectly splendid time.

The girls bustle about, dusting the doll's pine dresser, or straightening up the hand-made, four-room doll house, with its eclectic collection of furniture ranging from Toistyle to a charming little bow-front chest with real drawers. (Notice that peeling paper on the walls and the real carpet!)

They dress the old dolls that come in to be sold, and help the boys to price and mark newly-arrived items.

One girl dug up a husky-basket of pre-1900 medicine bottles from a dump, cleaned them and sold them off almost the day they came in.

One boy likes to dust and mend the old books. Another carries those old hobbyhorses the shop always seems to have. Everybody likes to wash and polish the thin old pieces of silver tableware, and they loved selling a collection of old coins which appeared one day.

Mothers won't believe this, but the youngsters are energetic about mending and washing the schtraps that customers always seem to fill. Ever ask them to do that at home?

cool—all those hot colors, after all ($50.)

Well, Bill Atkinson and Glen at Michigan are mixing and stirring and matching again, and if you bought one of everything in Clayton's spring collection, you'd need a new closet.

The theme is butterflies. They flutter up from the deep floral border of a long-sleeved voile skirt or a sleeveless cotton popover in copen, lemon or pale coral. They beat their wings against the wide blue, yellow or pink bars of a sleeveless cotton shirt.

The butterfly voile has been used over solid color in a one-piece bathing suit with spaghetti straps, and the butterfly print with stripes makes another one-piece.

The two-piece bathing suits, cut with boy leg but no cuff, are wild lemon or a soft sailing blue poplin, two colors which are also used in separate shorts and slacks.

Then, Atkinson has taken that deep, slaty sailing blue and made a poplin suit with jacket cut long and collar made low and stand-away. Comes in a nice rosy coral, too.

An A-line skirt in that wild lemon solid has a wide stitched waistband, and a wrap skirt with V-waist and slant pockets, is sailing blue.

New with Atkinson are Little T-strap flats to match. The shoes have a little buckle, perforated vamp with rounded toe and one-inch heel—just like the ones you wore when you were eight. They come in the lemon, blue and pink that matches everything else, and they are $20 a pair.

WHO WAS JOHN BROWN? Old Pamphlet Found. "A review of the trial of 'Ossawatimic' Brown" is the title of a new—well, newly-acquired—pamphlet dated 1889 and now for mile to Country Antiques, 172 Nassau.

An undated pamphlet, "John Brown's Attack on Harper's Ferry" is another you might pick up at the same time. And if your nose for American history carries you beyond the Civil War, you'll want to look at some autobiographical pamphlets by Clarence Darrow, which the owner of Country Antiques found in the drawer of an old desk.

Look at that hucple scene on the wall—a couple of cows on a country lane. The signature is "W. Hurd, Jr., 1885." Where does he fit in with the portraitist Hurd who's been in the news lately? Anybody know?

Country Antiques is lavishly attached to, but will sell, some of Charles Dana Gibson's original etchings. The one we saw was called "The Toy Maker" and is one of a series of scenes from Dickens. It's $15.

"If only I'd had these at Christmas!" laments the Country Antiques lady. Two—Continue on Page 10

THE BLUE MAX: George Peppard and Jeremy Kemp compete for the highest air medal to be bestowed by the Kaiser, in the high tension war drama now at the Garden and Greenwood Theatres.

News Of The Theatres

covered medal of the air force. There are stunning sequences of aerial combat staged as it was in World War I.

"The Blue Max" tells the story of the last days of World War I from the German point of view, although not with the sympathy and sentimentality that marked "All Quiet on the Western Front." In the modern manner, the approach is cool and sophisticated. The leading character is Bruno Stachel, a ace, played by George Peppard with considerable assurance. He lets nothing stand in the way of his mania—the downing of 20 Allied planes is the price of a Blue Max. Perhaps the best performance is that of Jeremy Kemp as Willie Von Klugermann, the ace pilot who earns the Blue Max before Peppard.

Other significant characters are James Mason as the cynical general Maxon who has played so many German characters in previous films that it is now second nature, to him, and Karl Michael Vogler as Heinemann, the commanding officer of the squadron who disappears of Peppard and his relations.

It is when "The Blue Max" takes to the air that it assumes real excitement and visual splendor. Nine World War I planes r bomber raids— all photographed at close range and in color—with resounding scenes of breathtaking immediacy that puts in the shade similar scenes in the classic "Hell's Angels" and "Wings."

AUDUBON PROGRAM SET
At Trenton Junior High. An Audubon wildlife film and lecture on "The Untamed Olympics" will be presented by the Trenton Naturalist Club Friday at 8 p.m. at Trenton Junior High School No. 3, West State Street and Parkside Avenue.

The color film will be narrated by Walter H. Berlet, a photographer and conservation specialist. The program will be open to the public, with tickets available at the door.

WRITTEN A PLAY?

Send It In! Playwrights within mailing distance of Box 349, Rocky Hill, are invited to submit their scripts for possible inclusion in a concert reading of plays to be held in April under the sponsorship of The New Group for Theatre.

The New Group presented the recent evening of plays by Plater and Jones in Murray Theatre.

Each playwright may send in two scripts. After the choice has been made, playwrights will be invited to attend rehearsals and to participate in developing their scripts for performance.

Manuscripts should be sent to Susan Rosenbaum, director of the New Group, Box 349, Rocky Hill, before February 20. They will be returned if they are accompanied by a stamped, addressed envelope.

SHE'S A DIRECTOR?
You'd Better Listen. The town's least likely-looking director these days is a blue-eyed young beauty who looks like type-casting for a Persian princess. But ask her sometime about Harold Pinter.

News Of The Theatres

Acting workshop at the Princeton Adult School (first session this Thursday night) and reading playbooks by local playwrights, selecting the best for presentation in April (see story, "Theatres.")

In the past—if one can use such a phrase in connection with Mrs. Rosenbaum—the directed last year's memorable "L'Esprit du Soldat," and Community Players' 1965 "Endgame" and this season's evening with Inosenco and Pinter, and turned back to acting briefly for a turn to "Epitaph for George Dillon."

Acting Came First, "Turned back" because acting is where she began. Her list of credits starts when she was 13 in Washington, D.C. working in a acting lab managed by graduate students at Catholic University. On to high school and two plays a year for four years, to Broadway because it offered a combination of broad liberal arts and focused technical training.

She's in Princeton—Rocky Hill, specifically—because her husband Victor, is a graduate student in composition in Princeton University's music department.

"I first became interested in directing when I worked privately with Jasper Dwyer, that marvelous and versatile person who was with O'Neill at the time," Mr. Rosenbaum met Mr. Dwyer when he visited Brandeis to teach.

"His was the first fully-articulated system of acting I had ever encountered that made sense. He showed us not merely what to do when you make an entrance, but what your position is within the whole of the play. Everything we do as an actor, must be in response to what is around you."

"Too directors, of course, simply tell you what they want YOU to do, but Mr. Dwyer related us vitally to the whole."

This Thursday night at the adult school, she will invite her students to do non-verbal improvisations.

"Too often 'Improvisation' makes people freeze because they think they must be clever with words. I'll ask them to respond without words to heat or cold. Then I'll add a layer of meaning: respond to cold when you're all alone. Then we'll use the body without face-acting, building layer by layer as we go. Actually, it comes quicker, that way."

"Improvisations are for the development of concentration and singleness of purpose. And I'll never ask anyone to come up alone and do anything before the class. This is not performing, after all. Everyone will work at the same time."

The class will include scene work, too. "Adults will want to employ these techniques in a script."

She used her own acting knowledge all during her Brandeis years—and during in a semi-professional theatre in Washington at the age of 18, and in five weeks in summer stock at 19.

"Then at 20, I decided to study while I was still young."

BEAUTY IS YOU!

Everybody responds to beauty and beauty, forever and ever, has been a "SILE" word. "SILE" at a beautiful beauty means "SILE" is a beautiful, woman say, "SILE" is a beautiful fun, boy, and everybody says when they go to Paris, "SILE" is a beautiful beauty.

Beauty is you, and beauty starts with you as you right this very minute. Beauty doesn't only come out of beauty, a job, or a job, or a job. Beauty begins with your beauty, your hair, your coloring, your features, your assets, and your vitality. We all have these same basic beauty assets, but what we do with them is what counts. Beauty is a habit. It is doing the ordinary things the pretty way over and over again—being what no shortcut—until they become part of your very being. What do you do every day? You sleep, you walk, you sit, you stand, you eat and remember, regular exercise is the great stimulant to beauty. It is—essential to beauty. It is way down deep in your heart, you really want to be prettier than you are, you can be prettier today by having your hair done at—

BUSINESS In Princeton

SHE'S PRESIDENT
Of Savings & Loan. An American success story in the happiest tradition of the "immigrant who made good"—that's the story of Charlotte Wackwitz. Doughtery, a new president of the Princeton Savings and Loan Association. Only about ten women in the state are presidents of savings and loan firms.

"Immigrant" is a bleak word in use in describing the rosy-cheeked nine-month-old baby who came to this country from Germany in the arms of her father and mother. Actually it isn't quite accurate because Roserich Wackwitz was already an American citizen when she brought his family here, so, by virtue of being his daughter, was the infant Charlotte.

"My father was a gardener in Germany," Mrs. Doughtery relates. "He worked on the big estates in the last years of the 19th century, and of course served his military term in the old German Army."

"But he didn't like the rigid life in Germany in those days, so he shipped for the United States and landed for Guthrie, Oklahoma, where relatives had a bank—that bank is still there, by the way."

Homeowner, Herr Wackwitz made his way to Oklahoma by hopping freight-trains, and soon after he arrived, he began homesteading on 160 acres of land in the famous Cherokee Strip. Life was good he married a girl of German descent, settled on his homestead and raised five children.

But his wife died, and he sold his homestead and decided to return to Germany. Once back in the Fatherland, however, he became restive again. He was by now an American citizen and had begun to feel once more that Germany was not the Land of Opportunity.

He met Charlotte's mother, who owned a small linen shop. They married and Charlotte was born, and still he had restless memories of America and so he came home.

"We went back to the west to Pueblo, Colorado," Mrs. Doughtery continues. "Father bought land again, and established himself in a successful truck garden business, selling vegetables to hotels and big institutions in the area. As a matter of fact," she adds with some pride, "he had worked out ways of growing things like lettuce in greenhouses without having them die of rot, and students from the agricultural college used to visit him to find out how he did it."

Years before the term was invented, Mr. Wackwitz moonlighted: working evenings in the big Pueblo steel mills.

To New Jersey! But it was flat, prairie country, the high altitude made life uncomfortable, and that restive feeling was beginning again. So in 1919, the Wackwitz family moved east to the green fields of Rocky Hill, New Jersey. "Father decided it would be cheaper to bring everything with him than to sell it all here," Mrs. Doughtery says with a laugh, "so we moved EVERYTHING: cows, calves, chickens, horses, farm tools."

"It was right after the war and the government was still 'conservative'—I think they called it—of the railroad. Father wanted me to help him with all the baggage, and they told him I could only go into the box-cars if I disguised myself as a boy—so I did."

His cramped shift, dressed in farm work-clothes, young Charlotte Wackwitz made the three-week trip east, via box-car. ("We were always being 'hauled off on one siding'"), "And you know, every time I see a box-car go by, I remember how the train crew they knew I was a girl, of the box-car to get away, because it was early war, and there was no room in those box-cars. I'd climb up into the little box-car, wait, and watch the world go by."

P.A.S. in Rocky Hill, Mr. Wackwitz bought land again: a farm on Princeton Avenue, and Charlotte went off to school.

She graduated from Princeton High when it was in the old Nassau Street School ("Oh, the pranks we used to play! I read about these youngsters today, and all I can say is, they don't have as much creative imagination as we did in thinking up mischief...").

After graduation, she went to work for the Princeton Bank and Trust Company and then, in 1929, for Princeton Savings and Loan.

In 1932, she married James L. Doughtery, who worked in the bank. He died in 1931.

Rent, Please. "I remember the way it was during the depression and she shakes her head with useful memory. "The Association owned 65 houses we'd had to foreclose, and we had 135 tenants who paid rent. Well, I'd sit on doorsteps on pay-day, waiting for tenants to come home so I could collect. More often than not, they'd moved out in the night. Sometimes they'd bring the backdoor and door for fuel."

The houses were eventually sold for a profit to Association members of more than $40,000 and the time climbed back up again. The Association grew from its single window at P. & R. to its own quarters, and eventually to its modern offices at 19 Chambers'.

Ten years ago Mrs. Doughtery organized the New Jersey Savings and Loan League Women's Committee, and served as its first chairman. The organization now has about 750 members who are women officials and employees of savings and loan companies.

She has also been secretary of the Mercer County Savings and Loan League, and a charter member and former president of the Princeton Club of Princeton. She is now district secretary for the Soroptimists.

The farm on Princeton Avenue has been sold and Mrs. Doughtery now lives at 33 Washington Street in Rocky Hill.

"I love Rocky Hill, she smiles, "but somehow, I always think of myself as 'Princeton, too!'"

OFFICERS ELECTED
For Savings and Loan, Mrs. Charlotte Wackwitz Doughtery was elected president and R. H. Bunn, chairman of the board last week at the annual meeting of the Princeton Savings and Loan Association.

Mr. Bunn has been president of the organization since 1954, and is the only surviving charter director. The Association is continued on Next Page

Business in Princeton

lation was founded in 1917, and Mrs. Dougherty becomes its fourth president. She has been president of Princeton since 1963. Lloyd Grover, George C. Wintzinger and Mr. Bunn preceded her in the president's chair.

Mr. Bunn also announced the appointment of the following: John B. Grover as vice-president and vice-chairman of the board; Mrs. Helen S. Sheard as assistant secretary to secretary; H. C. Sturhahn as treasurer in reappointment; Mrs. Janet P. Smith, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer in new position this year; and Louis Gerber, re-appointed counsel. Three members of the Board of Directors were re-elected to three-year terms: Mr. Bunn, Mr. Sturhahn and George W. Conover.

COOK HONORED

By Chamber of Commerce. George B. Cook III, chairman of the board of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company, has been named the first honorary member of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council in the organization's six-year history. Mr. Cook is one of the founding directors of the Chamber and Civic Council. He retired last week in accordance with the by-laws which make him ineligible for another term after six years of service. The board of directors unanimously voted to elevate him to honorary member.

The founding director was presented with the organization's President Penny Award. The inscription on the award reads: "To George B. Cook III for having taken most effective action relating to the establishment and organization of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council during its formative years."

VIET NAM AGAIN: The prevailing issue of the war in Viet Nam is the subject of this week's guest — whether people's thinking about it has changed. Mrs. Dale Swanson says that she has felt all along that this country should stay there. "It's worth it," she adds. (Staff Photo)

Marco DiCapua, Graduate College, aerospace and mechanical sciences: Yes and no. My personal opinion hasn't changed but my assessment of the whole situation has. Personally, I've been opposed throughout to the war. I think we definitely should pull out. I think we are involved in a wholly religious war where the white element has the connotation of colonialists, which, unfortunately, the white carrier with himself. My opinion about the whole situation has always been that obviously we have to arrive at a compromise settlement. Hanoi, up to now, has believed it has nothing to lose so it might as well push the war to the end. Nevertheless, it seems the United States is also willing to push the war to the very end. Here we have two wars with horns interlocked: a stalemate. I think the prospects for a negotiated settlement — something which I didn't believe possible before — are nearer now and the stand the U. S. might take will not be as stiff as before. Yet I believe, to quote the New York Times, that what is said openly through diplomatic channels by the U. S. and North Viet Nam is not the thinking of the two countries. If a secret agreement is reached it won't be on the hard line each is following now. Neither the U. S. or North Viet Nam wants to give the appearance of weakness to the world.

Question of the Week

Question: Has your thinking on what course this country should pursue in Viet Nam changed within the past few months?

Where Asked:

Mrs. Dale Swanson, 40 Witherspoon Street, dental assistant: As far as what strategy this country should take, I'm not an expert but I've felt all along that we should stay there; it's worth it. It's hurting a lot of people and I know I wouldn't want my husband to go—if he did, maybe I wouldn't feel the same way, but after listening to the president's speech, he even got to me. We're all Republicans and I'm not a particular fan of him, but I do think he had some good things to say about Viet Nam and why we are there.

Robert Gorish, Route 518, Pennington, maintenance mechanic: It hasn't changed as far as I'm concerned. My opinion all along has been that this is a worthwhile war, a war that should be fought at any cost. As far as us losing me, I'm against losing men but you have to win a war. I feel it should be finished, definitely — whether it takes 100 months or two years, it should be done. This war wasn't started by us but it should be finished by us. I feel this country should come to a decision of what it conceals are on this war.

James Kannan, 47 Maple Street, musical director, St. Paul's School: Yes, it has. I'm getting tired of it, darn tired. I'd like to see it end, to see some resolution made. I'd like to see both sides go to the conference table and work out some type of peace settlement.

You are invited to hear an inspiring and informative discussion of Mrs. Barbara Wright, Princeton Pike, Lawrence Township, clerical worker: No, it hasn't changed. I think we should be there in Viet Nam. We're fighting for a free world and every bit helps. If we should stop there and the Communists get hold of a small group of people, then it would be a loss for the cause of freedom and democracy.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ross, Hightstown, bookkeeper, Princeton Bank and Trust: No, it hasn't changed. I still think we should carry on as we have — to go right on fighting. It's for a good cause.

John Klein, Gauss Hall, University senior: No, I can't say it has. I think we should pursue a strong policy; I feel half a commitment is the worst kind of policy. I'd just as soon see us commit ourselves fully or get out.

Miss Jean Bastedo, Kendall Park, clerk-typist, Firestone Library: No, it hasn't. I feel we should be there; we have to be there, but I would love to see it cleaned up.

Berwood Flyer, Princeton Junction, programmer analyst: Changed? Yes, I'd say so in part. First, I'm a confirmed hawk and I'm even more so now. As a product of our society I have an inherent distrust of Communism. One glaring point in my mind is the assassination of Tran Van Van which I feel was a communist maneuver to destabilize the government of South Viet Nam. I don't share the view that if we don't stop the spread of Communism in Viet Nam and in Southeast Asia it will spread elsewhere, but I can't at the same time adopt the British view if we do nothing. Viet Nam will go away by itself. I don't agree with that.

Mrs. Jay Caffery, Trenton, housewife: No, it hasn't changed. I've felt all along we should get out as soon as possible. I don't care how we do it — just get out!

Mrs. Leonard Johnson, 50 Greenhatch Drive, housewife: Not really. Of course, I always wonder why we're there in the first place. I just hope we achieve peace sooner than the country expects to.

WE DO!

The mystery crash — the kind that involves only one vehicle. It's a real highway whodunnit. Dead men don't fill out accident reports, and those who survive often won't admit mistakes. And it's a mystery why it happens at all, since it's the one type of accident over which the driver has almost complete control.

For instance, at 5:15 a.m. on January 3, the trailer-tractor above was traveling on a straight, level stretch of Princeton-Lawrenceville Road. Two hundred feet north of Province Line Road, the truck struck a utility pole, a maple tree, and came to a stop facing northwest in the field off the south-bound lane.

The driver stated that he was traveling about 10 mph when he saw a car coming in his lane. He swerved to avoid it, hit a patch of ice in the road, lost control and ran out into the field.

Lawrence Township police report that there were no skid marks, no apparent defects on the vehicle. The driver had 13 years' experience and his physical condition was apparently normal. The reporting officer noted that the road was wet and icy. Contributing circumstances were listed as "inattentive driving."

Ice in the road . . . a sharp curve . . . a bad chuck hole . . . all there on the road ahead, waiting to catch you unprepared and draw you into a mystery crash.

Take care! We care.

CALLING ALL SKATERS!

Four Princeton children have gone to their deaths in ice accidents during the past three years . . . two in Lake Carnegie, two in the adjacent Canal. To ward off such tragedy, help form a Lake Carnegie Ice Patrol to protect child skaters. Duty hours will be short — and spread through approximately three weeks of the winter.

Men, women, boys and girls of high school age are urged to inquire at a half-hour session to organize the Ice Patrol — meeting with Sgt. Jack Petrone, Township safety officer; Peter Cook, PHS hockey coach, and Harry Rulon-Miller, PDS hockey coach.

At 8 p.m. this Monday, January 30

Cafeteria, Princeton High School

All Skaters Come.

The hour you offer may save a life!

THEFT

MADE TO ORDER FOR BURGLARY

Are you helping a burglar? Here's what a crack burglar says about the clues you leave him:

1. Darkened House. "Anytime you see a light, a burglar won't mess with it. Timers that turn on a lamp are wonderful, because you shouldn't leave a light burning in the daytime. (There are burglars who work in the daytime, too.) I won't take a chance on a timer if it is someplace where I can't see into the room."

2. Dogs are a good thing. I'd carry some hamburger with me but if the dog makes a noise before you get near him, it's too late to be friends. He's woke up the neighborhood."

3. Door locks. "I had an 18 in. screwdriver that I had made down into a chisel, real thin. I'd just put it in between the lock and doorjamb and flip it back, and the door would open. The best guards are a dead bolt and chain. When a door has a chain on it, you can't get in unless you tear the whole jamb off. Too risky. When you splinter wood, it can sound like a shot."

4. Windows. "You can flip one of those switch locks right around with a knife blade, just by squeezing the blade through the crack. The best thing is those metal blocks where you can't raise the window but about three inches."

AT HOME

DO-IT-YOURSELF ENTHUSIASTS

Many homeowners rival professional craftsmen with their skill at do-it-yourself projects, but the average home is still the most accident-prone place in the nation.

Do-it-yourself enthusiasts need adequate first-aid equipment on hand to cope with emergencies.

Here are some tips to avoid the most common injuries encountered in home improvement:

- Be sure that power tools are properly grounded to avoid the possibility of shock. Check over the manufacturer's instructions and recommended safety procedures — no matter how trivial they may seem.
- Avoid lifting heavy objects if you are unaccustomed to physical labor. There is a trick to lifting, not with back or abdomen muscles alone, but take advantage of the stronger muscles of the legs.
- Wear gloves to avoid blisters, minor cuts and scrapes.
- Have a helper standing at the bottom of the ladder — it may slip. Never try to use a makeshift platform, boxes or chairs if your project calls for reaching high places.
- On deep or extensive cuts from tools, control bleeding by applying firm pressure on the wound. Cover with a dressing and get medical aid. Strains and sprains should be checked by a doctor because of the possibility of fractures which may not be detectable to a layman.

HIGHWAYS

PEEP-HOLE DRIVERS

Peep-hole driving is one of the most dangerous of all winter "sports."

Drivers who do no more than turn on their windshield wipers to make small holes to peep through after a snowfall are asking for trouble.

The good driver knows he must be able to see in all directions. He doesn't try to navigate UNTIL the windshield, the side windows and the rear window are clear.

Teach your teenagers safe driving by your own good example.

FOR ALL TO SEE, Canal Ice is never to be trusted, the newly-erected sign warns, no matter how cold the weather turns. Several such warnings have been placed at strategic spots along the three-mile stretch from the railroad bridge to the Kingston dam.

 censure actually to place our teachers in the 90th to 99th percentile of state salaries. Being human, they made a poor guess last time and placed our teachers nearer the 50th percentile — hence their anguished demand for a sizeable adjustment.

What bothers me is that if my preoccupation was incorrect and our teachers are actually getting not Grade A salaries but Grade B or B+ salaries, could I not be mistaken on the quality of our public education system as compared with others? Is it not time to forsake fact from folklore and find out exactly how much we are paying out compared with the rest of the State and the country? Are we getting what we pay for, or are we getting more or less than we pay for?

I do not think there is a case for recriminations against the Board, teachers, administrators or local government who seem to be maintaining the system efficiently the way it is. It is possible that we can only afford a B+ system, but this is for us at least know the cost of the alternatives and make our decision with our eyes open.

Unfactfactory Programming.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
 From time to time, I wonder whether, after all, there is not considerable reason for the customary distrust of the intellectual by the artist. Princeton being admirably full, it seems, of the former, and regretfully lacking in the latter, provides an interesting battleground for pro and opponents of this thesis. On occasion, the erection of certain edifices on the campus has caused me to side with the proponents, and today the recent recital by Isaac Stern — and its review in Town Topics — (January 9) give me reason to do so again. In order to allay the menacing spectre of harboring some personal grudge, let me state that I am usually very pleased by Mr. Sfarra's fine commentaries, even when my own reactions might be somewhat different. In fact, I too consider Mr. Stern a great violinist, capable of playing most musically and of producing a simply marvelous tone on his instrument. For that reason, I am dismayed by the lack of reaction to the sub-standard program that Mr. Stern saw fit to subject his Princeton audience to.

Since he has such tremendous capabilities one would expect, aside from personal tastes which always differ from individual to individual, a program in which the choice of pieces reflects the desire of the performing artist to give his audience an unusual musical experiences. Instead, (The corrected paragraph of the program was filled with either short pieces or light trivia — with the possible exception of the third movement of Bartok's sonata and the Prokofiev arrangement in the encore.)

While there certainly can be no objection towards including one or two such fragments on a program, it seems unfair to overrule the repertoire with them to the extent that we are deprived of the unusual musicianship that someone of Mr. Stern's caliber could bring to Princeton. Mr. Sfarra says that the audience sat spellbound until the intermission and then in a state of exhaustion throughout the lighter second half.

If I may be permitted to so remark, it was not a matter of absence of involvement that seemed to characterize a considerable part of the audience that I was able to oversee fairly well, since I was sitting on the stage. In fact the person next to me only woke up to the familiar strains that old post-Victorian top-kick "Schone Rosemarie," a piece as surprised as I was to find listed in the austere serenity of the concert-hall instead of the more cheery atmosphere of the Ritz-Plaza dining room.

On well, it doesn't help to argue about these things so I will end by confiding to you that from time to time I wonder whether, after all, there is not considerable reason for the customary distrust of the artist by the intellectual.

Misplaced Decimals Points
 To the Editor of Town Topics:
 The "Profile of a Year" in your January 19 issue (p. 1) contains some mistakes in arithmetic and, as a result, greatly understates the rate of growth of several facets of the Princeton economy in 1966.

For instance, loans were actually up 8.6% close to the previous year's 9% gain, not 85%; and savings were up 3.8%, not 638%. These and several other errors were due to a misplaced decimal point. Only 2 indicators, not 6, rose by less than 1% for the year.

be calculated starting from the earlier year: thus, for example, a rise from 100 to 150 would represent a gain of 50% (not 33% and not 5%).

Some of the percentages given in the quarterly business index on p. 22 of the same issue are even more hallucinating. Sufficient to say that if the value of township building permits had really fallen by 835% since the fourth quarter of 1965, the figure for the fourth quarter of 1966 would be -$32,040,000. Rather than the actual -$17,161,800.

To conclude, the economy of Princeton has shown considerably greater strength this past year than your calculations would indicate.

P.S. I guess it is human nature to take pen in hand to criticize, not to praise. Let me take this occasion to add that I find TOWN TOPICS a valuable, interesting guide to life in Princeton.

Editor's note: Town Topics' computer came unplugged for that Business Index. Mr. McCaden is certainly correct in his example, as well as a matter of general record there are frequent wild percentage swings in the building field, as the University's multi-million-dollar construction projects are suddenly piled atop normal residential building.

Also, the value of building permits actually soared 122% in the borough and 56% in the township (not 55% and 36%). Percent of change must

ART In Princeton

NEW SERIES BEGINS

At Stuart School, "Joy in Creating" is the title of a new series of art exhibits to be held at the Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart in Princeton. The shows will consist of paintings, sculpture, stained glass and tapestry and will be viewable at a time, open to the public on Saturday and Sunday afternoons between 2 and 5. The new venture will open formally this Sunday, January 29, with a preview and test to benefit the Stuart Country Day Scholarship Fund. Tickets may be purchased at the door for $2.50 each.

Zita Davidson. An exhibition of family portraits and figurative paintings by Zita Davidson of New York will be the first of the art series. The artist has studied in Europe and the United States, is a member of Portraits, Incorporated of New York, and has shown her work in the last year in Palm Beach, Southampton in New York, at the Charles Baronsky Galleries. Her work has appeared in Harper's Bazaar, Vogue, Glamour, the New Yorker, the Art News and other publications.

Zita Davidson's style has been generally described as sketchy and relaxed. "Sketchy" refers to her technique of painting on raw canvas, using the canvas itself as background and then partially painting her figures in sections of color. "Relaxed" defines the poses in which she places her subjects, usually a family grouping of mother and child, often a dog sometimes a father, all at ease on a beach, in a garden, doing a puzzle or just sitting on the floor. Gesture and expression were used to create informality and what she terms a "contemporary feeling."

Among the group portraits she will show at Stuart Country Day School are a self-portrait, one of her two daughters and many mother-and-childer compositions. Several paintings of figures in dance will also be shown.

DRAWINGS AT MUSEUM

From American Collection. A small but significant showing of American drawings is current at the Princeton University Art Museum, open Tuesdays through Fridays from 10 a.m. to noon and from 2 to 4 p.m. The drawings are the work of artists who were present at the University's drawing collection spanning the 18th, 19th and 20th centuries.

AMERICAN DRAWINGS ON VIEW: This "Annunciation to the Shepherds" by Benjamin West is one of 34 drawings by American artists now on view in the art museum of Princeton University. The exhibit has been assembled from the University's own collections.

One of the earliest exhibits is a copy sketch of a figure in action, a masterpiece of statement. There are two Winslow Homers, one a sentimental but captivating illustration and the other a watercolor scene which is a promise of Homer's more dramatic work. A tiny drawing of a woman does more than suggest the high style of Sally's portrait, and one marvels at the facility of Benjamin West's sketch of an Annunciation scene (see above).

Following through different eras, changes of styles, techniques and schools of thought, these drawings are sometimes mere fragments, often the birth of an idea for a greater work, or, on occasion, a whole picture in itself. Each one, however, describes the individuality of many of our most renowned American artists.

AT HOME WITH ART

"Living With Art in Princeton." The Princeton Art Association show at McCarter Theatre, running through February 15, is a loan exhibit of paintings from private Princeton collections.

Chosen purposefully to be varied, these pictures make a host with an interesting change of pace. Your eyes, watering slightly from an Op Art construction by Hen Levison, may next rest upon another type of clarity in contemporary landscape by Andrew Weith.

There is a vigorous Carbine Impressionism of Carmen Jones', a beautifully painted figure study by the contemporary French painter Jamon, an atmospheric landscape by the late Dudley Morris and a study of a voice by the Italian artist, Mario Deluggi, whose work bears studying. From the Dutch drawing of a friendly rhinoceros to an untitled work by Karel Niesters, numerous sketches are shown. One senses that what brings them together into an interesting exhibit is not just the choice of the committee and the composition of the owners but a nice feeling that all the paintings are prized by people who are happy to share with us for a while their own "living with art in Princeton."

AND ALSO . . . Islamic Textiles. A selection of textiles with woven, embroidered or painted inscriptions in a variety of calligraphic styles from the Textile Museum in Washington suggested by works from the Art Museum and the Firestone Library will be on view at the University Art Museum this month.

Upstairs Gallery. Winter hours for the Upstairs Gallery, in "The Yard" at LaSalle, are Wednesday and Saturday 11 to 5 p.m. daily, or by appointment until March 13, hours.

Golden Door. The Golden Door Gallery at the Playhouse Inn in New Hope, Pa. is showing new work by Hal Singer, Gerald Hardy, Marc Moon, Jacqueline Diehl, Jim Goody and Chaybe. February hours are 11 to 5 p.m. daily, or by appointment.

What does bloodless surgery have to do with better telephone service?

The connection is a lot closer than you might imagine. A laser beam—a beam of high-energy light—was first envisioned by physicists at Bell Telephone Laboratories as a very pure type of light for transmitting thousands of telephone calls at a time. And more recently the laser has been adapted at Bell Laboratories to enable surgeons to perform delicate "bloodless surgery."

A beam with a blue-green color was chosen since this color of laser beam cauterizes the wound as it cuts... preventing serious loss of blood and eliminating the possibility of contamination from diseased areas. This and related types of laser beams may play important roles in removing tumors and cancer cells, in replacing detached retinas, and in the surgery of normally inaccessible parts of the body. Also, lasers will almost certainly have considerable value as scientific tools in space communications, satellite tracking, and new computer and computer-memory equipment.

Although the main concern of Bell Laboratories, Western Electric, New Jersey Bell, and the other companies of the nationwide Bell System is providing better telephone service at a low cost, our combined planning, research and development produces many by-products which benefit all mankind. We're glad it works out that way.

SPORTS In Princeton

ROAD GAMES AHEAD
Tigers at Penn and Rutgers.
The second half of Princeton's basketball season begins Saturday night at the Palestra when the Tigers resume their chase for the Ivy League title against Pennsylvania. The game at 7 o'clock is the first portion of a doubleheader, in which St. Joseph's will face Temple at 4 p.m.
Standing room and closed circuit television in an auditorium adjacent to the Rutgers gymnasium will provide the setting for the Monday night game in New Brunswick. The Scarlet upset Princeton in Dillon Gymnasium, 68-46, last season and a lot of fans in the Harrison River are thick they may be capable of doing it again.

There had been hopes that a New York channel would televise the game, but a sponsor (reported asking price: $7,500 and not been found by midweek) and a last-minute decision to put the game on home screens appear unlikely. R. Kenneth Fairman, Princeton's director of athletics, rejected the possibility of bringing the game to Dillon Gym on a closed circuit, doubting that the cost could be kept through the sale of a minimum of 2,000 tickets at $5 each. Closed circuit television was used once for a Princeton basketball game, the year that Princeton played Cornell here when Bill Bradley was a senior. Tickets were sold to fans seated in the Dillon Pool auditorium and the technical results were somewhat short of satisfactory.

A Look at the Book

Princeton's basketball team, currently 13 and 1, will have to win its next nine games in order to better the best mark in the sport in Tiger history. In 1925, the quintet that Al Wittmer coached rolled to a 21-1 mark before losing the last game of the season to finish 21-2.

The second best record in basketball was the 19-3 recorded by Fritz Crisler's team of 1925-26. Oddly enough, that quintet failed to win the Ivy title because all three of its defeats were in league play.

The 1925 and 1926 teams had one midconference in common. Both lost their first game of the season to Pennsylvania at Philadelphia by the identical score of 29 to 28.

Penn Hot and Cold. A Pennsylvania team that went into its Wednesday game against Villanova with a 7-7 record has been playing unpredictable basketball this season but has had the knack of looking better against some of its tougher opponents. The Quakers had an early lead Saturday against a good St. Joseph's quintet, and came within four during the late stages of the game before blowing, 85-78.

Five players hit double figures for the Red and Blue—four of them sophomores. Steve Pressall, Pete Andrews, Jeff Osowski and Charlie Snell. The Quakers are defending league champions but four starters on that team have graduated. Penn has lost to Yale on its own court and barely beat Dartmouth and Harvard. The game weekend that Princeton was wallowing these second-dividend quintets by 40 to 70 points.

Penn's problem is that its two tallest players, 6-9 Frank Burgess and 6-10 Tom Mallison, have yet to show the ability to match their height. Of the sophomore group, Osowski at 6-3 is the tallest and there is in addition the usual lack of defensive ability that goes with such a young team.

The two-week layoff for examinations will almost certainly have dulled Princeton's effectiveness, whereas Penn has been playing regularly. The early-going Saturday night may be close but balance, height and rebounding ability are all in the Tiger's favor.

Rutgers Is Emer. The first clear indication of Princeton's right to continue among the nation's top ten will be furnished by Monday night's meeting with Rutgers. A Scarlet team that has won nine and lost two has just enough potential to trim Princeton if the Tigers do not pay close attention to the business at hand.

Senior Bob Lloyd is Rutgers' leading player, ranking among the top five in scoring and leading the nation in foul shooting. It was primarily his play that gave the New Brunswick five its first victory over Princeton here last season since 1952.

ing third in scoring with 20.3 average, he tops every one in goal shooting with an eye-popping percentage of 84.3. Captain Ed Hummer, the Tigers' best defensive player, probably drew the assignment of guarding him, with Lloyd's total output for the night playing a major share in the outcome.

Jim Valvano, whose fine shooting complements Lloyd's production, scored at a 18.4 average from the backcourt. Bob Green, also averaging in double figures with a 10.5 mark, measures 6-5; he and Doug Clark, 6-6, and Barry Milankow, 6-4 round out the starting lineup.

Batters aiming for a berth in the N.I.T. in March, would be a sure bet to make it. Princeton can defeat one of the nation's top ten teams, if Princeton drops Monday's game at New Brunswick, the Tigers will topple from their lofty perch with a reounding thud.

Tigers High Statistically.
The balance and depth that pervades Princeton basketball team this year is evident in the weekly statistics compiled by the N.C.A.A. As the week began, this was the story: No Princeton including top-ranked UCLA — has shown a greater margin of victory against its opponents. Princeton's average point spread over the 14 teams it has played is 23 — despite the fact that the reserves have often been sent into action before the end of the first half.

The Tigers are fourth nationally in fewest fouls committed during a game — 15.3. Balancing out this defensive skill is ability to rank fourth in field goal percentage with a .513 mark.

In rebounding a .757 average is good for seventh, which is also balanced out by another defensive achievement. An average of 60.5 points allowed per game is seventh best in the U.S.

lag times out; bar use of electronic equipment (TV monitoring sets) at the sidelines; require that the referee refrain from outflank a tackle when he is made eligible to catch a pass, and permit the receiving team to retain possession in the event of an offside infraction. In the past, if offsetting penalties occurred on a punt, fumble or pass interception, the ball went back to the team which put it in motion. A ruling that is now considered too severe.

SAME GAME, SAME ENDING
FIS Loss to Hamilton Lake a prelude to a Greek tragedy, the Princeton High School basketball team has been buffeted by five consecutive defeats. The most recent was a 68-47 setback administered Friday by Hamilton which, in winning, qualified at the 11th hour for a spot in the NJSLA tournament.

TWO-WAY PLAYER: Ed Hummer. Tiger basketball captain, averages in double figures and is team's top defensive player. at 7:30. The Tigers head for New England the next day to face Northeastern in the Boston Arena. This is a team they do not figure to beat — Northeastern edged Harvard earlier this month and has more depth and speed than the Tigers can match. Princeton has not won in this series since 1962.

John Rittelle's 20 points (14 goals, six assists) pace the Princeton scoring after nine games. The Tigers should have no trouble picking up their third victory of the season against Penn, but it may be a longer climb to the 500 mark than they achieve. They are currently 2-7, with a dozen games left.

FOOTBALL RULES CHANGE
Punt Returns Aided. Palmer Stadium firm, in common with others watching college football next fall, may rarely see the fair catch used on punt returns.

Meeting in Phoenix, Ariz., this month, the N.C.A.A. Rules Committee changed regulations on kick coverage that will aid the back waiting to return the ball. In 1967, all interior linemen must wait to cross the line of scrimmage until the ball is kicked.

Only backs and ends may go downfield when the ball is snapped, the rule figureing to add about two seconds to the time it takes a guard or a tackle to get to the safety man. Belief is that the quick kick (which Princeton used to such great advantage for the past three seasons with John Bowers) will be seen more often. Other rules changes permit one player on each team to converse with the coach during

THE HARASSER MR. REEVE: Chris Reeve, freshman goalie for Princeton Day School, gets ready to block a shot (arrow) in Friday's contest with Princeton High in brand new PHS risk. Confronting Chris is the Little Tigers' John Rier, who scored once during the game. games remain: Steiner, Zven, Con, Bridgewater-Baritan, Pedie and Hamilton.

Team Is A Puzzle. Why the Little Tigers have failed to the degree they have this winter is a mystery. They seem — to follow the pattern of the Greek tragedy still further — to be the author of their own downfall. When a team plays fitfully, as did Hamilton Friday, the Blue and White fails to take advantage of its opponent's lapses.

Taken individually, PHS has the manpower for a team that should certainly be capable of playing 300 ball. Boys such as Tom Wood, Rich Volz, Thom Yoder, Jeff Bullock and Marty Hines are fine players. Yet when they play together — nothing whatever it is that makes a team click as a team, PHS lacks it, and lacks it badly.

Hamilton (7-7) did not do anything like a team that needed a win over Princeton to qualify for the post-season state tournament. After a defeat with Hamilton in front by three, 13-10, the visiting Hornets switched from a zone to man-to-man coverage. This was the key to a 16-7 second period for Hamilton. The most vivid sufficient cushion as the Little Tigers, hitting on only a third of their shots (13 for 54), were having trouble finding the basket.

With 6-5 Tom Wood gathering in most of the rebounds, PHS out-rebounded Hamilton in the first half. But, as has been the pattern all season, the playmaking and the shooting failed to complement the rebounding. Instead of Princeton, it was Hamilton which turned the game around.

For the third consecutive game, Wood led all PHS scorers. Coming off previous 24 and 28-point performances, he tossed in 17 against Hamilton. Rich Volz came off the bench in the second half to hit six baskets for 12 points.

PHS SKATERS WIN, 4-1
Over Rival PHS. The most exciting sports action at Princeton High School this winter has to be the product of the Little Tiger hockey team. After losing its first four, Coach Pete Cook's sextet has come on with a rush, culminating in Friday's 4-1 triumph over Princeton Day for its first period which ended with Hamilton in front by three, 13-10, the visiting Hornets switched from a zone to man-to-man coverage. This was

The Blue and White has now swept its last four in convincing fashion and the chief engineers of the resurgence have been a couple of guys named in the team's last two starts. Rier. Of the nine goals scored in the team's last two starts, Paul Rier, the Blue and White's own version of Bobby Hull, and his younger brother, John, have accounted for all nine.

Against PDS, Paul was superb. He scored three times in the first 15-minute period when PHS called all of its goals to shock the home team. His first came two minutes after the game started off a pass from center Steve Holzinger.

He lit the light again a few minutes later. Then came "the shot." Cook described it as a "blistering slap shot from 35 to 40 feet out." It is doubtful that the PHS goalie ever saw it. Seven seconds before the end of the period, John Rier trapped one in during a mauling in front of the cage. "It looks like it's going to be another Rier week," he shouted.

After that it was a different contest, as PDS, which, with the exception of two games with PHS, is competing only on a junior varsity level this season, hit the home team. It actually outscored PHS in the remaining two periods, 1-0, when Sandy Wandell scored on a scramble in front of the net with three minutes remaining. His was the only goal after the opening 15 minutes.

Cook reported he thought his team played very well, adding that PDS got a great deal better as the game progressed. "We had quite a few more chances at the goal than they in the first period," he pressed. "If I just think we were stronger at the start of the game."

PDS coach Harry Rulon-Miller also echoed Cook in saying the high school played well. "The high school team has improved tremendously," he said. "Finally, the work of three years is starting to pay."

off. (Last year PDS topped Princeton high twice, each time by 3-2 scores.)

"Their Paul Rice," he continues "made some shots that would be considered impressive in any league."

Much of the credit for turning back the home team — in the game was the first to be played on Princeton Day School's new $225,000 outdoor rink belongs to PDS goalie Paul DeGrana. "DeGrana is coming along quite well, far better than we expected, mostly all on desire," said Wood.

Take 5-0 Lead. Last Wednesday at Baker House, Paul Rice pulled another hot trick and brother John added two more to power PDS to a commanding 5-0 lead during the first two periods over Livingston High School.

DeGrana shut out the visitors, following good play to Jim Warren in the final period when Livingston scored all three of its goals. The defeat was the losers' seventh against three victories and one tie.

The Little Tigers will get a chance to make it a 2-1 row Thursday night when they travel to Newark for a rematch with South Orange. Earlier this season, the north Jersey team defeated PHS in overtime.

Next Wednesday, Livingston High School will play a rematch with PHS at 6:30 at the Day School rink. Monday's scheduled meeting with Montclair High School was cancelled and has been rescheduled for February 13.

RANKINGS ANNOUNCED

By Lawn Tennis Association. The Middle States Lawn Tennis Association, comprising Delaware, Pennsylvania and most of New Jersey, has announced the ranking of three junior players from Princeton who entered tournament play last year.

Mary Lapadula, 149 Galbreath Drive, was ranked second in the girls 14 and under division. Steven Tobolsky, 191 Snowden Lane, was ranked second in the boys 12 and under. And Steven Kraft, 102 River View Road, was ranked third in the boys 16 division. Other high rankings were: Lindsay Blake, fifth, girls 14; Robbie Kraft, sixth, boys 12 and under; and Valentine eighth, girls 16. Also ranked from the Princeton area were Eric Dimpfel, Terry Blake, David Hicks, Ken Kraft, Richard O'Brien, Kevin McCarthy, Billy Janney, Richard Magee and Michael Gleisewicz. To earn a Middle States ranking, a player must enter at least three tournaments officially sanctioned by the national lawn tennis association.

In addition to the 15 from Princeton, 13 players from Trenton Junior Program received rankings. The 24 from Mercer County to receive Middle States recognition was the highest total of ranked players for the area.

Among those representing Mercer County at the annual meeting of the MSLTA were John Conroy, varsity tennis coach at Princeton University, and Mrs. Lewis Kraft, directorship games at Convention Hall in Atlantic City.

JUDO TROUPE HERE
At PHS Saturday. A high school judo tournament, the first to be staged at Princeton High School, will be held Saturday from 11:30 to 5 in the school's gymnasium.

There will be a small admission charge for help pay for the cost of equipment and trophies: $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

That the tournament is being held at PHS is something of a coup, according to Chuck McHugh, captain of the Little Tiger judo contingent. "Judo is rare on the high school level," he said. "I believe Princeton is one of four high schools in the state which has it." He added that the squad has hopes that school officials will recognize judo as an official activity of the school in the future.

Chuck, holder of a brown belt, reports that six schools, some as far away as New York, will participate. There will be a dozen boys from PHS in action, including Dave Wilhelm, a black belt, who learned the art of judo in Japan. (The color of one's belt signifies one's proficiency in judo — black being the highest rank.)

Others are Larry Adler, green belt, George Bates, and Dave Stair. Stair, a senior, placed second in the 165-lb. class in the Eastern High School judo championships held at Reynolds School. A junior, Bates finished third in the same weight division.

George Povilis, assistant coach in football and basketball, is sponsoring the judo team.

HOSE SHOW SET
By Chestnut Ridge Club. An indoor schooling horse show will be held Sunday by the Chestnut Ridge Riding Club, the Great Road. Twenty-two classes are scheduled, starting at 9 a.m.

The day's events include classes for hunter seat equitation, ponies, green and open working hunters, as well as the New Jersey Professional Horsemen's Association high score award classes.

Thomas Hamilton will judge events, with champion and reserve ribbons provided. Entry fees are $4 per class. General admission is $3 for adults, $2 for children under 12.

GALLUP WINS AGAIN

To Extend Lead. Gallup Poll overpowered Van Nostrand, 48-20, last week to remain undefeated in the YMCA Baseball League. John Smithson, Kerry Kirk and Bill Striker led the Fallers with 10 points each.

Princeton Hospital retained its share of second place by defeating ETS, 32-47. Roger Madden accounted for 21 points of the ETS score.

Tied with the Hospital for second place is American Cyanamid, which dented RCA, 30-39. Charlie Corlett was high man for the winners with 24 points. Van Nostrand will play the Hospital. Gallup Poll will confront RCA, and American Cyanamid will meet ETS on Tuesday.

PHS MAYNEN ARE HOME

Against Pennington, Lawrenceville. The Princeton High School wrestling team, winner in its last two bouts, will play Pennington games at Convention Hall in Atlantic City.

There will be a dozen boys from PHS in action, including Dave Wilhelm, a black belt, who learned the art of judo in Japan. (The color of one's belt signifies one's proficiency in judo — black being the highest rank.)

Others are Larry Adler, green belt, George Bates, and Dave Stair. Stair, a senior, placed second in the 165-lb. class in the Eastern High School judo championships held at Reynolds School. A junior, Bates finished third in the same weight division.

George Povilis, assistant coach in football and basketball, is sponsoring the judo team.

NINETEEN QUALIFY
For NJSEA Tourney. Only 19 high and parochial schools from the Delaware Valley have managed to qualify for play in the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association state championship tourney.

To be eligible, teams must have completed at least a 300 record by the cutoff date of January 21. Each must have played a minimum of 10 games.

From the South Jersey Group 4 division, of which Princeton High School is a member, only two teams — Trenton and Hamilton — qualify, the latter by virtue of its victory Friday over PHS.

In addition, three Trenton-area teams, all members of the South Jersey Parochial A division are in — Cathedral, St. Anthony and Notre Dame. Another Princeton-area participant is Hopewell Valley High School. It is the only qualifier from Central Jersey Group 2.

Opening round play in the tournament will begin in February and end the weekend of March 17-18 with seven championship topics going into every round of the best-of-three series. Their own figures, their newspaper does half as well.

WOOD'S 33 LEADS PDS
 To Win Over Middletown

Who think Princeton High School is having a poor season in basketball?

Middletown Township (near Sayreville) lost its win in a row without a victory here Tuesday afternoon to Tom Wood's team. The victory was the 33rd for Wood's team, who have won 51 points, one more than the entire Princeton output. Final score was 67-50.

Wood netted 33, 12 in the third period to score a personal career high and the high scorer for the season. He averaged five the 28 he tallied last week. In addition, the 6-5 Littleton center and captain pulled down 24 rebounds, 17 in the second half.

Of the 32 points scored by the Princeton team in the second half, Wood and Bullock added 12 and 10, respectively. The latter the result of a push shot by Joe Kuley. Bullock finished with 18 points, his 10th in the previous high which he set in the second half.

Cosch Tony Borok operated freely with his personnel throughout the contest. A surprise starter was Jeff Frangos, who finished with four points. The win was Princeton's first this year over a Group 4 school and left it with a 5-10 record.

PDS FALLS TO HUN
 In First Varsity Game, Home Team Princeton Day School was defeated in its first varsity basketball game Friday, and adding to the bitter taste of defeat was the identity of its conqueror: The Hun School, sure to be the chief rival of PDS as the school's athletic mainstay.

"We have no alibi," said PDS coach Dan Barren. Hun outshot us and outscored us. We were disappointed we couldn't stay with them more closely than we did." Hun went from a 38-18 halftime lead to win easily, 73-51.

Actually, in that ruthless second half the second half was 35-33, Hun! PDS had more shots at the basket than did Hun but it hit on only six of 33 attempts. Throughout the game it made only 27 percent from the floor and was a point 11 to 10 (37 to 36) from the foul line. In contrast, Hun made 99% of its shots in the first half.

"I think it was a case of first varsity game jitters more than anything else," commented Barren. "Our boys were trying too hard but the ball just wouldn't go in the hoop."

For PDS, co-captains Craig Page and Bill Rigot led with 17 and 13 points, Frank Andrews had 10 and Rick Ross seven.

In all, ten players scored for Hun. The center led the balanced attack with 19, followed

Three Games for Pee-Wees

The Pee-Wee All-Stars will play three hockey games in New Canaan this weekend. John Bernard, organizer of the league, announced that the team will play at the Belmont 11th. Pee-Wees will play at the Belmont 11th and on Harvard's Watson rink Friday. The following day, the Princetonians will play in Concord, N.H., and on Sunday they will play a team in Andover, Mass.

ed by Don Silversen's 14 and Mike Maguire's 10. An oddity in the game was a senior among all the starters. PDS won't have a senior team until next year. Hun coach Dave Lee has been going with a young team comprised entirely of freshmen.

Hill School Reeled. Earlier in the week, PDS played its fourth and final preseason junior varsity game. It demolished Hill School with a 24-1 opening period attack which it increased to 63-10 at the half. Final score: PDS 74, Hill 42.

Commenting on the lopsided first half, Barren said: "Hill tried to press us, we just broke their press wide open." In addition, the Blue and White was a stinging 50 for 21 from the free throw line and 47% from the floor.

Bill Rigot, making his first appearance of the season following his recovery from a back injury, led the victors with 21 points. Rigot was high scorer for the Blue and White last year.

Frank Andrews and Tom Spain, who finished with 16 and 10 points, led the win enabled PDS to finish with a pre-season junior varsity log of 3-1.

HUN WINS PAIR
 Selebury Here Saturday, The up-and-down Hun basketball team was up last week, defeating Princeton Day School Friday, 72-51. The first varsity meeting between the two, and earlier coming from behind to defeat George School, 63-59. The twin victories raised its overall record to 3-2.

On top are two important Penn-Jersey league titles. Saturday afternoon, Hun will get a chance to state for previous defeat this season to Selebury when the Spartans will meet the Red and Black in the Princeton Seminary gymnasium at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon, coach Dave Lee's squad will be at Moorestown.

Although happy to win twice last week, Lee remarked that Hun "didn't play that well in both games." He described the first half against George School as a nightmare in which the team didn't do anything right. "But we came from 14 points behind so that says something for their spirit," he added.

Hitting double figures for Hun in that game were Mike Maguire (18) Pete Braveman (11) and Don Silversen (10). Karl Harter and Nat Williams each had eight. William, a 6-2 Phillips, will be guest speaker at the 17th annual YMCA baseball award dinner Monday evening at 6:30.

In the 14 team Midget League, each member of the Hun's Yankees, which won the Y Midget Varsity Series, will receive a trophy. Tom Coppal was team manager. The Princeton "and Trust team and its manager, Joe Bolster, will receive awards for winning the National League pennant.

"Any Hun improvement can't come too soon in the Penn-Jersey League where Hun is 2-3." The league is starting to get "know-as-it always does," observed Lee. "You never know what's going to happen, everybody is starting to knock each other out."

For the moment, Hun is still in the thick of contention, but as Lee remarked last week: "It's already reached the point where it can't afford any more league defeats."

ASHBURN TO SPEAK
 At YMCA Award Dinner, Richie Ashburn, former player and now radio and TV commentator for the Philadelphia Phillies, will be guest speaker at the 17th annual YMCA baseball award dinner Monday evening at 6:30.

In addition to the players and managers, a trophy will be presented to the companies sponsoring each winning team. After the presentation of awards, Ashburn's talk there will be a film of the 1966 World Series.

BOWLING NOTES
 Nassau Del Gama Led, Nassau Del, led last week with Stefanello for first place in the B League, gained six points to take over first place with 16.

Stefanello, meanwhile, was blanked and a skidded into a three-way tie for fourth with Princeton Del and Smith. Bookbinding, Balestreri is second with 11 and Renwick is third with 12.

Mike Pennell rolled the highest game at the Princeton Recreation Lanes last week, a 240 to which he added 190-179 for a 615 series. Vince Tufano had 235-183-181 for 699. Other high games were Jack Peters, 234; Al Hezan, 232; Bill Covenshup, 225; Frank Cwyler, 218-200; Nick Cefati, who earned a trophy for his 200-179.

MUSIC In Princeton

MARLBORO GROUP PLAYS Heard Monday at McCarter.

The "Musicians from Marlboro" returned to Princeton Monday evening for the second of three chamber concerts and brought with them a package of Viennese fantasies under the guise of Schubert Dances and Lanner Waltzes. The course was made of more substance by Mozart in the form of Divertimento and Trio, but even these works were intended to serenade the listener of a bygone era rather than involve him emotionally.

Alexander Schneider, violinist, led the ensemble of musicians which included Oleg Kozlov, violin; Walter Trampier, viola; Robert Silverstein, cello; Julian Levine, double bass; Leonard Arner, and John Harrows and Earl Chapin, horns.

The program opened with the entire ensemble performing "Divertimento" in D Major, K. 291. The five movement work comprising two minuetts, scherzo, minuet, and a finale, was brilliantly clear, direct, a bit lean at times, but always musically satisfying. Mr. Schneider played with a verve and driving intensity that served as a little springboard for the ensemble to emulate.

The second minuet may have appeared familiar to those in the audience who at one time studied piano. The little French Folk Minuet occurs in the Diller-Quigley Book 2, 3rd piano collection. What Mozart's does with this charming piece is truly a pleasure to behold. The wit and elegant counterpoint in the Trio of this movement show endless variation and invention. The horns continue into the finale with the oboe pointing to the imp in the Viennese (Mozartian) musical characters.

The Five Schubert dances for String Quartet which followed are not satisfying taken as a whole. Mr. Trampier on viola was able to bring more than one of these charming trifles to life with his exquisitely warm tone and musicianship. Perhaps three of these dances can hold one's interest, but after that, the repetition of these broken chords begins to pall.

Following intermission, Mozart's "Quintet" for Horn and strings, K. 492, was heard. The string quartet surrounding the horn features one violin, two violas and cellos and the pair between the violin and the darker tone color of the viola nicely blended with the sonorous tones of the french horn. As in the Divertimento, Mr. Schneider led his ensemble in a convincing and musically perceptive reading. This of his lovely work Mr. Barrows played beautifully. His tone was mellow, but not overpowering; his phrasing magnificent.

The final portion of the program was devoted to Landerer and Waltzes by Joseph Lanner. A contemporary of Johann Strauss and Franz Schubert, The Schneider forces performed these three works which included parodies of Romantic Viennese music and Mozart in waltz style with much clownish humor. Indeed, it was difficult for one acquainted with Lanner's music to believe that he was actually the composer of these dances, since the waltz itself was considered to have started with Lanner.

The concert was enjoyable as good fun and supported by first class musicianship. Perhaps the type of humor was a little too repetitive and did not run a little thin after a while.

PAGE-TURNER SUCCEEDS: Young Serkin on his Own. Long before he made his own debut as a pianist, young Peter Serkin appeared on the major concert stages of world turning pages for his father, Rudolf Serkin.

Now at the venerable age of 19, Peter Serkin is on his own. He will appear in McCarter Theatre next Thursday, February 2, at 8:30, in a program featuring the Beethoven "Diabelli" Variation in their entirety.

The fourth of six children, Peter Serkin is grandson of the violinist and composer, Adolf Busch. He made his debut in New York and London during the 1964-65 season, and appeared also that year with the Philadelphia Orchestra under Eugene Ormandy.

In 1963-64, Peter Serkin played with the Cleveland Orchestra under George Szell in both Cleveland and New York. He appeared in recital in the same quarter in New Hampshire, Louisville and Weston, Massachusetts.

On records, he has performed in the Schubert "Trout" Quartet with Alexander Schneider has recorded the Schubert Sonatas for Violin and Piano, the two Mozart Piano Quartets, and the Dvorak Piano Concerto.

"Fiesta": Of Hispanic Music. Four musicians widely known in Princeton for expertise in Hispanic music will perform next weekend, February 2 and 4, at 8:30 in Murray Theater.

Cynthia Gooding, Domingo Zullo, the flamenco singer known as Raquel and Frank Janney are the artists. They will play and sing from the literature of the Spanish Cante Jondo, the Mexican Haipones and the Cuban Guajiro and other forms.

Miss Gooding is folk-singer who has recorded many albums of songs gathered in her travels over the world. Mr. Zullo, a flamenco guitarist "of primer order," has appeared with Carlos Montoya and performed in Seville's Plaza Andaluza.

He will play several solos, and in addition will accompany the songs of Raquel. Young Spanish-Cuban singer who sings the difficult Cante Jondo, Frank Janney classic guitarist and singer, will play several examples of Caribbean music and will also accompany Miss Gooding.

MODERN MUSIC? YES: Concert to be Given. The Philadelphia Composers' Forum will present a concert of contemporary music followed by a panel discussion this Sunday at 8 p.m. at the Westminster College College Playhouse. The music is invited.

Dr. Joseph Castaldi, president of the forum and composer of "Pomp Electromusic," one of the works to be performed, will participate in the panel discussion. Mrs. M. Thilde McKinney, head of the Westminster College department, will moderate the panel.

The Composers' Forum is an organization dedicated to performing and encouraging contemporary music in small ensembles. The concert will be performed by an ensemble of wind instruments.

play in the second half, he became pressed by four teams—MacKenzie Realty, Nym Plymouth, Bakerfield and Treves Day Nursery. All have eight points apiece, two back of Bued.

INVESTURE SUNDAY

For Mr. Henry, Investiture ceremony will be held at 3:30 Sunday in St. Mary's Cathedral, 121 Parkway Ave. Rev. Mr. Edward C. Henry of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, elevated earlier this month by Pope Paul VI to the rank of Bishop, officiated at the service, which drew only 18 of the presiding of the Trenton diocese. Six laymen will be invested as Knights of St. George.

A parish reception will be held at 7:30 in St. Paul's school building. Arrangements for the evening made by a committee representing all of the parish societies and organizations, with the Rev. Salvatore J. Livigni, assistant pastor, acting chairman. The evening will begin in the cathedral with a musical program by the Girls' Choir, the St. Paul's Boychoir and the first grade Gleeclub. The reception will follow in the cafeteria.

Next, Henry, a native of Trenton, was ordained in St. Mary's Cathedral on March 13, 1937, and held assignments at St. Rose, Belmar and the Cathedral before entering the Army Chaplain Corps in June 1942. He served in Europe for three years with 280th Engineers, entering Normandy on D Day plus 2, taking part in the Battle of the Bulge and ending in Hoff, Czechoslovakia. After separation from the service in 1946, Mr. Henry was named pastor at St. Thomas the Apostle, a bridge then Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Maple Shade, prior to his present assignment in 1959. He is director of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Charities, a member of the Diocesan Liturgical Commission.

LAYMEN BEGIN TALKS

On Christian Unity, the interdenominational "Living Room Dialogues" begin this week in neighborhood groups throughout the Princeton community. The sponsors are the Princeton Christian Unity Committee and the Princeton Pastor's Association.

Some 260 laymen, nuns and clergy attended the organization session on Friday at Princeton Seminary. They were the co-editors of the report, "Living Room Dialogues," the Rev. William B. Greenspan, CSP, of the Association of Good Will of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, and the Rev. William B. Norrison of the National Council of Churches.

Twenty-five hundred and thirty-four laymen have signed up for the study groups. Registration is still being taken by the PCUC. Interested individuals may sign up for $2 ($5 per couple) along with name, address and telephone number to the Miss Natalie Vaughn, 237 Nassau Street, the cost including a book, text, and other average 8 to 10 persons, and participants are invited to the course of the night of the week preferred.

"A TIME FOR BURNING"

Mission Film Scheduled, The struggle of a midwestern Lutheran church to help Christian efforts in the Philippines will be told in the film, "A Time for Burning," to be shown Sunday at the School of Missions at Princeton Baptist Church. The meeting is scheduled for 5:30 p.m.

"Instruments for Change and Progress" is the theme this year, the Rev. Walter P. Carvis, pastor, has announced and the public is invited to the meetings.

HOUSE HUNTING?

GROWING FAMILY? . . . in a very pleasant neighboring community, here is a large house (red shingles with white shutters and trim) that has 3 bedrooms, 2 baths on the ground floor, and a fully insulated second floor, with plumbing and heating ducts installed, which can easily be finished into 2 more bedrooms and bath when needed. At present, the house now has entry hall, carpeted living room and dining area, large modern kitchen with breakfast space, and family room with fireplace. Very liberal terms available to a qualified buyer. City water and city sewer. (Sole agent) $31,000

FOUR BEDROOMS . . . this lovely home, only 5 years old, is located on a quiet street in a fine neighborhood outside Princeton very much in favor with many staff members of research centers in this area. Colonial in design, the house has entry hall, formal living room, dining room, large modern kitchen, beautiful family room with fireplace and powder room, 4 bedrooms, 2 full bathrooms, 2 half bathrooms, 2 full bathrooms, transferred, property available at once. $34,975

TEN BEDROOMS . . . just outside Princeton, an old Victorian house with lofty shade trees and more than an acre of land, has been transferred into a wonderful place to live. The old part of the house has center hall, living room and dining room (both with fireplaces), breakfast room, kitchen and pantry. Second floor: 3 bedrooms and bath. Third floor: 2 bedrooms and bath. The new part, built in 1957, has central air-conditioning, and provides a huge painted family room, master bedroom with dressing room and bath, a second bedroom and bath. Upstairs 3 more bedrooms, 1 bath and laundry room. This all adds up to 10 bedrooms and 2 baths, and beyond all doubt, makes this property just about the nicest place for a big family which has come on the market in recent times. Immediate possession. (Sole agent) $55,000

TOWN HOUSE . . . right on Stockton Street, in the Borough, it has a wide entrance hall, living room with fireplace, dining room with fireplace, library, maid's room and bath, powder room . . . and a very up-to-date kitchen, recently done over, with lots of cabinets, electric dishwasher, disposal - everything that a perfect kitchen should have, and everything in perfect condition. Upstairs: sitting room with fireplace (this also could be a bedroom), 3 bedrooms, 2 baths. Third floor: 4 bedrooms, 1 bath. Outdoors: an inviting garden with flagstone terrace, and many huge old shade trees. This is a Victorian masterpiece, over a century old, which has been restored and decorated in excellent taste. If you have long been dreaming of moving your family into a house so big, so beautiful, that even grandfathers would have been proud to call it home . . . here is real opportunity. (Sole agent) $85,000

Many more fine homes in Princeton and vicinity in every price range.
